OXFORD: CULTURAL HUB OF THE SOUTH

Oxford is a shining example of Southern living—a charming and friendly community filled with music, academics and literary inspiration. The weather ranges from mildly sunny days in the winter, with temperatures around 12°C, to hotter temperatures, reaching 32°C in the summer.

HISTORIC OXFORD

Founded in 1837, the city of Oxford has been home to literary geniuses and inspiring artists, including authors John Grisham, Willie Morris and William Faulkner. Jetsetter.com ranked Oxford the fourth-coolest Southern town and the sixth-coolest college town in the United States.

If you are looking for a weekend getaway, cities like Jackson, Birmingham, Memphis and Nashville are within a few hours’ drive, making it easy to explore that “Southern charm.”

City Highlights

GOOD EATS

Southern food is famous across the country as a category all its own. Oxford offers up tasty local fare, as well as globally inspired food at restaurants and cafés, all just minutes away from campus.

LITERATURE AND MUSIC

Book lovers will relish a visit to Rowan Oak, William Faulkner’s former home, just around the corner in Oxford. Music connoisseurs will flock to rock stops on the Mississippi Blues Trail and the B.B. King collection in Ole Miss’ Blues Archive.

Rebel Nation

The first football team in the state, the Ole Miss Rebels, competes in NCAA Division I athletics, boasting an impressive football history. The Rebels have won six Southeastern Conference titles and have claimed three national championships throughout their 115-year history.

Ole Miss even made its mark in the College Football Hall of Fame, with 10 former players and coaches representing the program. On game days, Ole Miss students flock to the Grove, a grassy, half-hectare stretch where they hang out with friends and enjoy Southern food favorites before cheering on their favorite team.

LIFE ON CAMPUS

Experience Community, Spirit and Tradition

You will never forget your first steps on the Ole Miss campus. The university's vibrancy and color make it one of the nation's most beautiful campuses (and USA Today agrees). Our picturesque campus boasts 800 hectares of lush lawns and wooded trails, and nearly 50 buildings throughout Oxford are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Built in 2019, the South Campus Recreation Center is a state-of-the-art, 98,000-square-foot facility with an indoor climbing wall, three fitness studios, a workout gym, two basketball courts, a running track, intramural sports fields and more.

A World of Opportunities—Right on Campus

- Socialize and tailgate on gameday at the Grove.
- Volunteer at community organizations like the local Boys & Girls Club.
- Join your friends at arts, music and cultural festivals on campus.

Join 300+ Clubs and Organizations

- Engineers Without Borders

PREPARING GREAT STUDENTS TO MAKE GREAT THINGS

The Center for Manufacturing Excellence (CME) develops leaders, innovators and entrepreneurs of modern manufacturing.

Located within the CME facility is our 12,000-square-foot manufacturing floor, where students gain hands-on experience as they learn the basics of wood, metal, plastic and carbon fiber composite processing and finishing.

Ninety-six percent of CME students participate in co-ops and internships, and all students participate in teamwork assignments onsite at manufacturing facilities.

DISCOVER YOUR PASSION

University of Mississippi student Elizabeth Romary had a desire to see the world and help others. While attending Croft Institute for her bachelor's degree in international studies, she enrolled in foreign-language courses to better understand diverse cultures. Armed with the necessary skills, she was able to identify her passion for the Peace Corps and served in Namibia to help thousands of people in need.

Experience "Southern Charm"

A jewel of the South, Oxford is known for its friendly hospitality.

POLITENESS

Conversations with friends and acquaintances are never rushed.

KINDNESS

We treat our guests like family.

HELPFULNESS

We are always ready to lend a hand.

ENTERTAINMENT

We have great restaurants, music, art and shopping.

RESPECT

We make sure everyone feels welcome and comfortable.

TRADITION

We take pride in the things that bring us together.

CHANGING THE WORLD, ONE SHOE AT A TIME

When Daria Herasymova was a high school sophomore, she left Dnipro, Ukraine, as a foreign-exchange student to spend her junior year 5,575 miles away at Oxford High School.

She had been selected as a finalist for the Future Leaders Exchange Program administered by the U.S. Department of State, but little did she know this would lead her to find her "second family" and college choice. Carol and Robert Dorsey were Daria's host parents during her time at OHS. Bob Dorsey is a former economics professor at the University of Mississippi, and he was one of the four founders of the financial services startup FNC Inc. in 1996. FNC was acquired by Core Logic in 2015.

After her high school year in Oxford, Daria returned to Ukraine, finished high school and enrolled at Oles Honchar Dnipro National University. However, she kept in contact with her host parents, and they were supportive and encouraged her to attend UM.

Daria will graduate from Ole Miss in May with dual degrees in economics and finance. She is also double minoring in management information systems and German language.

JONGILE, SOUTH AFRICA

At most other campuses, you're just a number; whereas here I don't feel that way, especially in my department because in a big way, your department becomes your university experience. It's this whole small family thing, which helps you develop fast and easily integrate into the society, and with people being from different places, there's so much to learn.

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

Pharmaceutical Sciences (B.S.)
degree to prepare for PharmD

INSPIRE. ACHIEVE. BELONG.

When you're applying to a university in America, it's important to find a school where you get incredible value for the investment you're making in your academic and professional future.

Ole Miss has over 100 undergraduate degree programs and is widely regarded for its programs in accounting, engineering and pharmacology.

SETTING YOU UP FOR CAREER SUCCESS

Sylvester Lee started his undergraduate studies in the School of Pharmacy and went on to get his master's in environmental toxicology. Lee says his professors inspired the critical thinking that supported his unique research. He credits Ole Miss's career development program with helping him develop the confidence to bring his big ideas to life.

During his studies, Lee took a research trip to the Bahamas in search of pharmaceutical compounds. "My job was to scuba dive, study, and use cutting-edge technologies to gain insights and knowledge into one of the least-understood ecosystems in the world," he says. "That experience made a deep impression upon me and set me on my future career path."

Make Your Mark at Ole Miss

At Ole Miss, you are encouraged to gain hands-on experience through research projects and internships. You will also have the opportunity to network with alumni and job shadow at top companies like:

- AutoZone
- Enterprise Holdings
- FedEx
- International Paper
- Mueller Industries
- Northwestern Mutual
- ServiceMaster
- Trustmark Corp.
- Walmart

NAVODIT, NEPAL

“ I always wanted to live in a small town. In addition, I was looking for a good scholarship [from] a good university. Ole Miss was a perfect match for me. One of my friends was already at Ole Miss when I started my application and he told me this is a great university for sure. Now that I am here, I am so happy with my decision. ”

CHANGING THE WORLD

Ole Miss students stand out—and they transform lives. According to Niche.com, 93% of students are employed two years after graduation. Home to 40 major research centers, the university prepares students for success by developing leadership, communication, creative-thinking skills and a global perspective.

DARIA HERASYMOVA, UKRAINE

“The business school has allowed me to gain analytical and interpersonal skills that are vital to success in a rapidly changing business environment. During my time at Ole Miss, I have diversified my skill set so that I can be of value in today’s job market.”

Professor Spotlight

IKHLAS KHAN,

PROFESSOR OF PHARMACOGNOSY

WORLD-RENOWNED FACULTY WHO FOCUS ON YOU

Research professor of pharmacognosy Professor Khan is renowned for his scientific achievements and collaborative work with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration to ensure the quality and safety of botanical dietary supplements worldwide. As the associate director of the National Center for Natural Products Research, Khan has also been honored with several academic awards and research grants.

During his tenure at the university, Khan’s scientific achievements have gained him international recognition as a scholar, leader and innovator.

Endless Opportunities

WORLD-CLASS RESEARCH AND ACADEMICS

For more than 150 years, Ole Miss has been a hub of research, academics and innovation. From housing the renowned Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship to working alongside the National Science Foundation, Ole Miss provides opportunities for students to engage with their global community and gain necessary skills.

STRONG ALUMNI NETWORK

Ole Miss alumni leave a global footprint long after their time on campus ends. Graduates have gone on to become chief executives of Fortune 500 companies, heads of governmental and nonprofit agencies, and owners of small (and not so small) businesses.

RESEARCH WITH A GLOBAL IMPACT

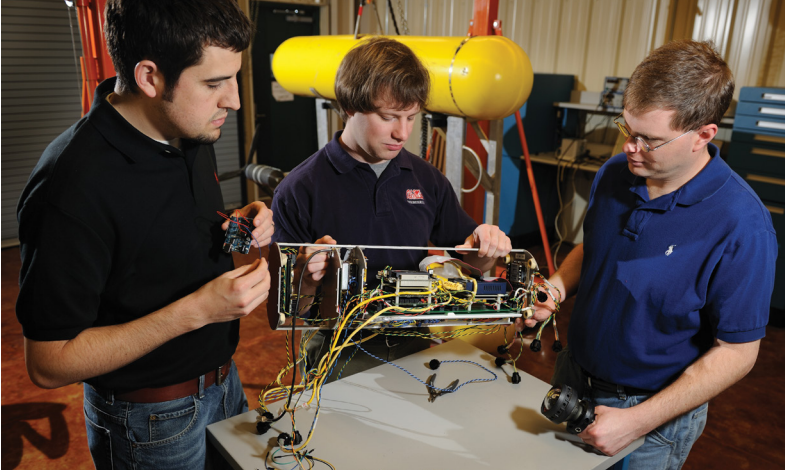

Ole Miss’ various research programs—such as acoustics, atmospheric physics, health care, remote sensing, space law, and pharmaceutical sciences—are internationally renowned.

The university holds more than 40 patents for inventions, including a fire ant trap, an algal herbicide, novel drug-delivery systems, a thermoacoustic refrigeration device, immune system stimulators, and treatments for cancer, malaria, pain and infections.

“ I applied the teamwork and problem-solving skills I have developed in the Ole Miss chemical engineering department and was able to see how business and engineering combine to form a successful corporation. ”

— BRENNA SIT, CHEMICAL ENGINEERING, USA

Bring Your Ideas to Life

NEXT STOP: YOUR NEW BUSINESS IDEA

Students are encouraged to create new businesses at the Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship, which provides hands-on skills and experience to inspire student-entrepreneurs to launch innovative companies, valuable services and creative products.

MAKE THE WORLD A BETTER PLACE

The Center for Manufacturing Excellence—the only university program of its kind—is dedicated to developing leaders, innovators and entrepreneurs in the field of modern manufacturing. Open to all majors, the center’s interdisciplinary projects encourage students to create products and bring them to market.

YOU CAN COUNT ON IT

Ole Miss is consistently named in the top 20 accountancy programs by the Public Accounting Report, and is proud to say its students boast a 100% post-grad hiring rate. Go Rebels!

Be Part of Groundbreaking Research

DESTINATION: MARS

Scientists at Ole Miss are working with NASA on a Mars research initiative. Professor Shan Jiang is the principal investigator for the project funded by the Mississippi NASA EPSCoR Research Infrastructure Development Program and directed by Professor Nathan Murray.

MYSTERIES OF LIGHTNING

Did you know that a lightning flash can heat the surrounding air to temperatures of 27,760°C? Thomas Marshall, professor of physics and astronomy, and Maribeth Stolzenburg, research professor of physics and astronomy, do. They have received two National Science Foundation awards to aid their research into the mysteries of lightning initiation.

PETROLEUM ENGINEERING RESEARCH

Off the coast of Mississippi in the Gulf of Mexico, thousands of miles of pipelines are carrying oil and natural gas from offshore wells. These massive engineering systems need constant monitoring to ensure safety, as Zhiqiu Lu of the National Center for Physical Acoustics knows well. He is leading a research team to develop technology that would quickly detect, locate and characterize underwater leakages.
